

1. The Bible is the best book.
2. God is the best friend anyone can have; He loves you despite your imperfections.
3. God does not mind your age, measures people on the scale of purpose.
4. The best place to raise children is in the atmosphere of love; it empowers their self-confidence and sets free their inner potentials.
5. You must share the same social, mental and spiritual outlook as your spouse to have peaceful and productive marriage.
6. Marry who naturally is your friend, because you can both speak and understand a common language.
7. The state of your mind and the quality of the peace at your home will determine your personal productivity.
8. Ability to manage money is a rough measure of one's level of personal discipline.
9. Forgiveness disempowers those who always seek to offend you.
10. Don't keep friends who are not loyal to you and you to them.
11. Success is easier and better durable when you do what comes natural to you.
12. Money and success will never replace the sense of fulfillment that comes with you doing things that fall in line with your life-callings.
13. Only share intimacy with friends who connects with your personal purpose and callings in life.
14. You can never rise above your circle of friendship and those who surround you.
15. Good books are tools of self-transformation. Spend and be spent on them.
16. Don't own many cars when you don't yet have a home of your own.
17. An expensive holiday is worthless when you have no peace of mind.
18. A marriage that has no peace can never fulfil its purpose.
19. Won't be long for people to make out if your words match up your actions, no matter how hard you try. Be real.
20. It's not wise to offer unsolicited advice to anyone. Always be honest with your feelings and opinions. It's called integrity.
21. Living for a dream and a purpose is the secret of eternal youth.
22. 'Humility' should not be an excuse to let others abuse your sense of worth and personal dignity.
23. You become the natural leader when those around you can trust you.
24. People may respect and admire your talent but God will ultimately promote you when He has tested your character.
25. Character and trustworthiness are the most productive seeds; key to 'life-long' harvests.
26. Open your heart to everyone, but share your thoughts to those who are worthy of it.
27. Obedience to God and His principles is the key to durable prosperity and peace.
28. When you talk so much of your plans and pray less about them, Satan can spiritually frustrate such plans.
29. When you break promises you will fail to win the loyalty and trust of people in a very long time.
30. Success may give you social recognition but character gives you moral and spiritual authority before men and God.
31. You can be religious and godly and still fail in life when you are blind and ignorant to the principles of success.
32. Having sex with the wrong partners will naturally hand Satan control over your destiny.

33. Comparing oneself with others zaps your inner power of focus, traps you in a vacuum of self-doubt.
34. Don't allow others to define what you want out of life-It makes you stay in control.
35. Gossips are cheap distractions Your best reply is to ignore. More productive to listen to your spirit than to brood over gossips.
36. Don't spend your time trying to prove yourself to others, your worth is in who you are.
37. The best nutrition to your talents is to exercise them. Associate with people who are better and greater than you.
38. When you look after your parents and respect their counsels it's the secret to long life.
39. You cannot successfully impact and transform people' lives when you don't genuinely love them.
40. To have good and loyal friends does not come as a 'social coincidence', it's a gift from God.
41. No matter the pains and challenges of marriage it' still the best form of partnership when done with the right person.
42. Contentment is a powerful virtue; protects you emotionally and socially. Gives you peace and personal confidence.
43. It' always best to let people know where they stand in your life. You can never love everyone the same.
44. A broken and unfulfilled promise is a negative seed, it will produce sour grapes later in your life.
45. Best advice is to tell people exactly how you feel about them and your honest assessment of who you think they are. They will come back to thank you.
46. Invest in anything that will make you mentally better efficient.
47. Prayer is the most powerful exercise one can engage in. It affects your mind positively and make you believe God that everything is possible.
48. The job you do does not represent your self-worth, who you are is who you worth.
49. Don't live in denial with your failures. When you are honest with God, He remakes you into a brand-new person. You have no need to trade words with your critics.
50. To live for a purpose and to die fulfilled is the highest level of success.